

Media Release

AIA brings ambition to life for 25 undergraduates

Colombo, 23 November, 2015: It was a life-changing experience for 25 undergraduates from four universities when they attended a workshop on the theme 'Bring your Ambition to Life' conducted by AIA Sri Lanka. The two-day residential workshop focused on empowering the undergraduates as part of AIA Sri Lanka's endeavour to contribute to nationally relevant activities, driving economic and social development. The objective of the workshop was to help open up the minds of participants to look at life options after their university career.

"We are confident that our contribution would go a long way in changing the mindset of participants gearing them to think more positively than before, leading to true leadership essential for progress" said Chathuri Munaweera, Director, Human Resources and Company Secretary at AIA Sri Lanka.