 Investment strategy: AIA Sri Lanka maintains a prudent investment strategy for its investment portfolios, in line with its investment philosophy and guidelines as set out in the investment policy. The Company advocates a long-term investment strategy supporting long-term growth. The equity strategy is driven by in-depth research with emphasis on growth and sustainability of earnings whilst principles such as liquidity, solvency and corporate governance also play a significant role in stock selection.

Fixed income outlook

- The Monetary board decided to maintain policy rates at the Monetary policy meeting held in November 2022. The money market liquidity position improved during November 2022 due to a combination of factors including the increase in the CBSL holding to finance the debt service payments in November and the term repo auctions held by the Central Bank to improve the overall liquidity of the banking system. The Central Bank holding continued to increase in November 2022, concluding the month at LKR 2.54 Trillion
- The benchmark 364-Day Treasury bill rate declined further to 29.46% during the month of November 2022 from 29.60% recorded in the previous month. Interest rates across the yield curve witnessed a reduction, where the yields of the long-term Treasury bonds recorded a steeper decline compared to the medium-term Treasury bond yields.
- Inflation as measured by the CCPI (2013=100) continued to ease further in November as it declined to 61.0% from 66.0% in October, mainly owing to the decrease in food inflation to 73.7% from 85.6% in October 2022. The weak macroeconomic conditions coupled with doubts over the overall debt restructuring process will continue be major factors resulting in high interest rates in Q4 2022.

Equity outlook

- All Share Price Index (ASPI) and the S&P SL 20 index recorded gains during November 2022, as they appreciated by 0.57% and 5.38% respectively. The market sentiment improved towards the latter part of the month due to the expectation of foreign investor participation in December. However, foreign investors were net sellers during November 2022 (net buyers on a year to date basis).
- Based on current monetary policy and fiscal policy, we expect FY23 to be a challenging year for corporates. As a result, overall corporate earnings may come under pressure in FY23. Therefore, we expect the stock market to be range bound in Q4 2022.
